A.—The difference in bringing forward these Balances is thus explained by the Judge of Ahmedadad: one appeal from the decision of Sudder Ameen has been inserted through an oversight as from the decision of a Moonsiff.

B.—The difference in bringing forward these Balances arose from a mistake in last year's Statement, wherein one appeal from the decision of Punchayet was inadvertently included among the appeals from Jagheerdars.

Appendix D.

English Education. (1).—The University has been incorporated, and the Senate and Syndicate have been actively engaged in preparing a draft Code of Laws for the general administration of the University, and particularly for the regulation of the examinations for Matriculation, Degrees and Honors. The report of the Senate is nearly ready for submission to Government.

A. English.

(2).—Colleges for general Education exist at Bombay—the Elphinstone College and the Poona College.

The Elphinstone College, reinforced by three Professors, Messrs. Owen, Rawlinson and Hughlings, commenced the year with great vigour and promise of success. I have to lament the untimely death of Professor Rawlinson (Applied Sciences) in the month of September. I have also to regret the departure of Professor Owen (General History and Political Economy), on sick leave to Europe, in April. The Hon'ble Court have promised to fill the vacancy caused by Professor Rawlinson's death. Mr. Owen's work is performed partly by Professor Sinclair, and partly by Professor Hughlings. At the end of the official year, the staff was as shewn in the Appendix.*

Government letter No. 958, dated 17th April 1858.

* Marked I.

The College studies have been reorganized on the basis of the new scholarship system reported on by me last year. The Junior Scholarship standard in the Appendix† indicates the requirements of the College at Entrance. Paying Students are, of course, admitted on somewhat easier terms.

† Marked II.

7. The tenure of a Junior Scholarship is two years, and the first and second-year-men are submitted to an obligatory junior course of study, which comprises English, Logic, Mathematics, History and Chemistry.

8. The Senior Scholarship standard, which appears in the Appendix,‡ tests the progress made in this course.

‡ Marked III.

9. The tenure of a Senior Scholarship is two years, and the third and fourth-year-men, who are the "Senior Students," have the liberty of choosing between the special Schools of Literature, Science and Law. As under the new scholarship system we hold out an inducement to men to stay four years at College, the scheme promises to work well. Formerly there were seldom, if ever, more than three or four 4th-year-men.

10. The College Examiners of April 1857, report‖ favorably of the Elphinstone College as compared with its previous condition. There is no doubt of the goodness of the Professorial teaching, as far as it goes, but the want of previous school training is much insisted on. I beg to refer to my subsequent observations under the head of High Schools.

‖ Appendix to my Report for 1856-57.

11. The number of Students at the Elphinstone College was only 43 at the commencement of the year. The discredit thrown by the Examiners of 1855 on the College, partly accounts for the fact. Partly too, the political events of the year which excited much acrimonious comment in the Newspapers on high class Native education, may have had their effect, but the most tangible cause of the decline of numbers is as follows:

12. Formerly free Scholars and Students were admitted in indefinite numbers, and 24 Scholarships were assigned to freshmen. Thus as many as 56 students were admitted in 1854-55, under the heads of Stipendiary and free Scholars.

13. In the second-year class the number of Scholarships was 15, in the third year seven, in the 4th year only three.

14. Now there are 10 Scholarships for each year of the course, and 5 free Studentships. The number of young men admitted therefore at any given examination, exclusive of paying students, is presumably about 40 less than before.

15. On the other hand we have the satisfaction of knowing that after next year, besides fee-paying students, there will be always 60 students, 40 scholars, and 20 free students, all men of approved ability, and all going through four years study. It is evident that in an educational point of view, one 4th-year student weighs far more than one 1st-year student.

16. The College has recovered its popularity, and I believe there will be a considerable number of paying students admitted next term.

17. An important measure in many points of view was the recent extension of the area of competition for Junior Scholarships. Formerly they were "close" to pupils of the Elphinstone Institution. I have thrown them open, and held district Scholarship Examination at Surat, Ahmedabad, and Rutnageery. The benefits of this change, both to the College and the public, are obvious.

18. Rules have been prepared for the regulation of College Examination and other matters, but I await the promulgation of the University Statutes before finally settling them.

19. The Poona College has made a marked step in advance, under the vigorous administration of Mr. Arnold, the new Principal.

20. The College Examiners report favorably of the Mathematical attainments of the pupils, unfavorably of their English. The staff appears in the Appendix.*

*Marked IV.

21. Here, as at Bombay, the admission of free students was conducted with objectionable laxity. I affixed a maximum limit of 20 free students. There are now 36 Scholarships, and thus, after a year is passed, there will presumably be at any given time 56 paid or free scholars, besides fee-paying students. The present number of students is 33.

22. An anomalous "Department" of the Poona College, consisting wholly of Bramins studying Sanskrit and nothing else, under ignorant and bigoted Bramin Gooroos, was happily reformed during the year, at the sacrifice of the Gooroos, who refusing to teach the sacred language to any but their own caste, were degraded from their chairs, and attached as literary referees to the Marathee Translator.

Vide Government Resolution No. 841, dated 7th April 1848.

23. Now Sanskrit is taught as a language to all the Hindoos in the College, together with the general branches of an English Education. The Sanskrit Scholarships are thrown open to competition. A Superintendent of Sanskrit Studies has been enquired for.

24. The Scholarship Standards are the same for both the Government Colleges.

25. Law Classes.—Three Professorships, two of which are Government Law Professorships, and the third is the Perry Professorship of Jurisprudence, founded by subscription, correspond to the "Law Faculty" of the University. Courses of lectures have been held during the year in general Jurisprudence, Blackstone's Contracts, and Mercantile Law, Crimes, and Evidence.

26. At the request of Government I examined the several Law classes in June last. I reported the result fully to Government.* I was well satisfied with the amount of book knowledge exhibited, and as regards two of the students, I was highly pleased with their legal style of reasoning and expression.

* Directors' Letter No. 999, dated 9th June 1857.

27. Grant Medical College.—The most important fact of the year was, that at the Annual Examination for Diplomas not one candidate was found qualified.

28. Two reasons are given:—1. That the Medical profession is distasteful to Natives, and therefore that a comparatively low class of men come to the College. 2. That the young men entering the College of late years are not so well educated as formerly.

29. The first reason is unquestionably sound; Government, observing the apathy shown by Natives with respect to the extraordinary advantages held out by the Grant Medical College, has suggested measures for attracting Europeans to the College. This point is still under consideration.

30. As regards the second alleged reason, I entirely concur in its correctness. A few years ago the late Board of Education tried the experiment of dispensing with European School-masters. This mistake has been the fruitful parent of all the disgraces which have lately attended our Colleges.

31. A confirmation of this view is afforded by the gratifying fact, that at the Matriculation examinations of 1857 and 1858, since the arrival of a European, Mr. Smith, to take charge of the Elphinstone Central School, a very superior class of students have been admitted. In 1857 seventeen candidates were registered; of these six were Matriculated all from Government Schools. This year, of the same number of candidates, nine were found competent, seven being from Government Schools.

32. The system of stipends at the Grant Medical College has been reformed, with the sanction of Government, on the same principles as were last year adopted with respect to the Elphinstone and Poona Colleges. The "Stipends" are now "Scholarships," no longer eleemosynary allowances, that is to say, but rewards of merit, as shewn at examinations. Part of the Scholarship Funds, (viz. Rs. 100 a month) have been set aside for Exhibitions to be held at the College by boys from four of the leading Mofussil Schools. The new system will be in operation next year.

Government Resolution No. 594, dated 11th March 1858.

33. Full courses of lectures in all the subjects of the College curriculum were delivered. A total of 67 students attended the classes, (viz. 41 students, 21 student apprentices, and five Hospital assistants.)

34. The College staff is shown in the Appendix.*

* Marked V.

35. Civil Engineering College.—This projected Institution is still under consideration by the Supreme Government. The nucleus for the College exists in the Government Engineering classes conducted by Mr Coke at Poona.

36. This School was opened in July 1854, chiefly with the view of supplying the Public Works Department with trained servants. In February 1857 it was put under the charge of Mr. Coke., During the year it was intimated by Government that for the future Students in the class must not expect Government employment as a certainty, and that if admitted it would be on a grade not higher than Rupees 25 per mensem.

37. This decision was a heavy blow to the School, and the Bramin students of the Poona College, who previously monopolised it, declined to attend it; the attraction of a free education not being sufficient without the further promise of lucrative appointment on leaving the classes. Many students left the schools, and at an entrance examination only one was found qualified.

38. Questions for examination of candidates for entrance were therefore recently issued to the Government Schools in the districts by the aid of the Educational Inspectors. The result was that 13 boys were found qualified, that is to say, five from the Central Schools, Bombay, four from Rutnageery, three from Sholapoor, and one from Rajkote. Next year the number of candidates will doubtless be augmented.

39. Here, as at the Grant Medical College, the indifference of Natives to a free professional education has led to the invitation of other classes, as the sons of Non-commissioned Officers, Pensioners and Indo-Britons. Three of this class will be admitted next term.

40. During the year 19 students were admittted as probationers, on Rupees 25 a month, into the Public Works Department.

41. Another class of 13 students were sent up at the end of the year, for examination as candidates for the Public Works Department. The result is not yet known.

42. The lower branches of the Poona Engineering School will be referred to under the head of Industrial Education.

43. Provincial Colleges. Institutions of this kind were at one time contemplated at Surat, Ahmedabad, and other Provincial stations. The scheme of the Surat College utterly broke down in consequence of the levity of the people who promised, but would not pay, a monthly contribution of Rupees 400. It was evident that the "subscribers" were not in earnest in demanding a College. The plan has been finally abandoned.

44. I have recommended the establishment at Ahmedabad of a "Professional School" or College, to prepare young men to enter the public service in the Revenue, Judicial, and Public Works Departments. The local subscriptions, given nominally for a College, but as I understand, really designed for a humbler kind of institution, amounted to nearly Rupees 50,000.

Vide my Letter No. 735, of 29th March 1858.

45. As regards the other projected Colleges, Government have assented to my suggestion that they are not yet required, and that funds would be more advantageously laid out in the establishment of High Schools.

Vide my letter No. 735, dated 29th March 1858.

46. High Schools.—Our present "Zillah English Schools" are, with the exception of those at Guzerath and Ahmedabad, provided with Native Masters, on salaries from Rupees 70 to 100 a month. The type of an "English School" as settled by the late Board of Education, is one under a Native Head-master, on Rupees 100 a month, with an assistant on Rupees 15 a month.

47. Schools of this kind are very useful, but they cannot train young men for College.

48. We have two Schools only which profess to do so. The Central School, Elphinstone Institution (under Mr. Smith, a certificated Master from England, assisted by Mr. Beyts, an Indo-Briton, educated at Bishop's College, Calcutta), and the Poona College School, which is allowed Rupees 200 a month for a Headmaster, a salary quite insufficient to secure a competent European.

49. Neither of these Schools answers the idea of a High School, or a Collegiate School, as understood at the other Presidencies, and I take advantage of this opportunity to repeat what I have so often said, that College Education in Western India will never have a fair chance until good English Schools, not "Commercial," but "Classical." High Schools, Collegiate or Grammar Schools, are founded to feed the University with under-graduates.

50. Government were pleased to approve of these views, but under the lamentable circumstances of last year, it was impossible to urge the financial proposition which involved the re-organization of the Central School, Bombay, the Poona College School, and five other district English Schools, at an increased charge as High Schools.*

* Vide my letter No. 735, dated 29th March 1858.

51. English Schools.—This term at present comprises all Schools which teach English to all their classes. I have proposed to Government the preferable classification of (1) High Schools (i. e. that train for College); (2) Superior Anglo-Vernacular Schools (corresponding to our present Zillah English Schools), and (3) Inferior Anglo-Vernacular Schools (corresponding to our Pergunnah or Semi-English Schools.)

52. In the districts of all the Educational Divisions, I have abolished the old free Scholar system which, chiefly in the Presidency and Dekkhan Divisions, filled our Schools, English and Vernacular, with Bramin beggars (Bhickshooks) who at once monopolised and degraded Government Education. Now 20 per cent. on the fee-paying pupils are admitted free, not by nomination but by examination, and on production of a certificate of poverty.

53. Another most wholesome rule promulgated at the order of the Supreme Government, has required all Schoolboys to buy their own books.

Government letter No. 3313, dated 14th November 1856.

54. A temporary decrease of boys has followed these orders in the districts chiefly affected by them. This of course was to be expected.

55. Presidency Division.—The English Schools in the Presidency Division are as follows:—Central and branch School of the Elphinstone Institution, number of scholars 797. Rutnageery School (a very improving school) 73 boys. The Tanna School, which is in process of re-organization, 99 boys. Juggonauth Sunkersett English School at the Presidency Town, 144 boys. The Gokuldoss Tejpal English School, 96 boys. The last named two Schools were opened during the year, and are jointly supported by Government and the individuals named.

56. There is a considerable increase of fee-paying boys in the English Schools of the Division, but until all the returns come in I cannot state exactly how much.

57. Dekkhan Division.—An English School (Dharwar) has been closed, temporarily, owing to the breach of faith of the people who undertook partially to support it, and one English Department has been closed. Entrance fees have been demanded as an experiment (in an English School, 12 Annas) in order to check the practice of boys leaving School for no reason, and seeking re-admission after a few months' interval.

58. The expenses of Government Education have been reduced in the Dekkhan Division during the year, how much I cannot yet say.

59. There are six English Schools in the Dekkhan Division, three English Departments, and six Anglo-Vernacular Schools. The number of boys 648.

60. Guzerat Division.—In Guzerat there is a sensible decrease of English students. The Inspector attributes it to the excited state of the country. The number is 787 against 946 of last year. The decrease is at Ahmedabad, Kaira and Surat. As regards the last named school, however, it should be mentioned that the strict discipline introduced by Mr. Good, the new Master, has (only temporarily I hope) scared away 160 boys out of 431. Private Schools of an indulgent character and extreme inefficiency, have been opened to receive the refugees. It may be confidently predicted that the Government School will more than recover its lost ground. It is due to Mr. Good to say that he is an able and energetic, though perhaps severe Master.

B. 61. Vernacular Education.—I shall be prepared to hear, when all the returns come in, that there is no considerable increase of fee-paying boys studying in Government Schools through the medium of the vernacular. There is certainly a decrease in the aggregate number of paying and free boys.

62. In the Dekkhan and Presidency Divisions it has been found necessary to close several partially self-supporting Schools, owing to the people failing to make good their promised contributions. This is the least satisfactory feature of the partially self-supporting system. Forty-two Schools (most of which ought never to have been opened) have thus been closed in the Dekkhan, and four Schools in the Presidency Division. These Schools, however, were inferior, and badly attended.

63. In Guzerat there has been an increase of 13 Schools established on the partially self-supporting plan, in accordance with agreements made by the Educational Department with the people previous to the Government Order in November 1856, prohibiting the further opening of such Schools pending correspondence with the Government of India. On the whole, therefore, there are 33 Government Vernacular Schools fewer than at the end of last year.

64. It is encouraging however to find, that wherever there has once been a Government Vernacular School, the desire of education generally seems to have struck root. The people almost always beg for the re-opening of a closed Government School, and in some cases set up private Schools of their own on the Government model. I cannot in a brief report of this nature show, as I should wish, the hopefulness of this (to me) unexpected phenomenon.

65. Fees have been strictly required of the pupils in advance. Great laxity formerly prevailed under this head—boys ran into debt, and of course did not pay at all. Further, the reduction of free scholars to 20 per cent. on the fee-payers, has tended to thin our school-rooms for the time. These wholesome changes could not be effected without some sacrifice. The depression will only be temporary, the benefit will be permanent.

66. Much improvement has been introduced in the organization of our Schools. Every newly appointed Master is more or less trained to his work in the Government Normal Schools and classes at Poona, Dharwar, Surat or Ahmedabad.

67. The fees which formerly were wasted in rewards to Masters, are now devoted to supplying proper Furniture, Apparatus, Globes, Maps, &c., and the balance paid into the Treasury to the credit of Government.

68. As regards the course of study high Mathematics have been discouraged, and Arithmetic, Accounts, Writing, Composition, and other practically useful branches have received more attention.

School Books.—There has been considerable activity in producing improved and cheap School Books. I have produced a Primer and second English Book adapted to native boys, and have substituted for McCulloch's expensive series of reading books, (which were complained of as containing religion) the cheaper, fuller, and better books published by the Irish Commissioners of Education.

69. A Marathi Primer and 2nd Book have been brought out at Poona under my orders, to be followed by other books of a reading series sketched out by myself. A "Vernacular Class Book Committee" of competent scholars renders help in criticising the new books. A similiar Gujerati series is under preparation.

70. Books on Arithmetic, Geography, Natural Philosophy, History, Accounts, are being published every month. All the new books are made as cheap as possible. A statement has been furnished to Government.

Vide my letter No. 1356, dated 10th June 1858.

71. A new Department has been constituted on the ruins of the old Depositories of the Elphinstone Institution, entitled the "School Book Department." During the year under report a revised scheme for remodelling the School Book Department was submitted to the Government of India, who were pleased to accord their sanction to it as an experimental measure, of which the result is to be reported in a year. (Vide Mr. Secretary Hart's letter No. 2438, dated 23rd September 1857). The principal defects under the old system were, that books were not sufficiently cheap and accessible to all, and that they were supplied to Schools as Government grants, instead of being purchased by the scholars. Under the new scheme these defects are, as far as possible, removed. The principal of making every schoolboy (paupers excepted) pay for his books is now everywhere enforced.

72. The reduction in the prices of books is effected (1) by printing or reprinting of books in the cheapest style possible; (2) by purchasing supplies of books from those tradesmen who will allow the most liberal discount; and (3) in some cases by selling books at less than cost prices (such reduction in no case exceeding one-half of the old selling prices).

73. The arrangements for the deposit and supply of books have been improved. There is now to be a Book Depôt attached to every Government School, Vernacular as well as English; and private individuals are also to be allowed at the discretion of the Educational Inspectors, to keep a supply of books for sale, so that books may be procurable wherever they are likely to be in demand. At each Zillah station there is to be a larger depôt for supplying books to the Depôts in the Zillah. The Depôts at Poonah, Belgaum, and Ahmedabad are to contain the principal stock of vernacular books, Marathi, Canarese, and Gujerati respectively. The Central Depôt at Bombay is to be the main source of supply for English books. Mr Bhaskar Damodhar, the keeper of this Depôt, has the control of all the Book Depôts in the Presidency.

C. 74. Industrial.—J. A. Crowe, Esquire, in the month of September 1857, was appointed Superintendent of the Jamsetjee School of Art and Industry. The school was opened on the 8th of September, with 44 students. The admission during the month increased the number to 55. The attendance was good, the largest on any given day being 51. A course of Plane Geometry was commenced, and the students began drawing from flat examples on the blackboard.

75. In November, a course of Perspective was opened, and the more advanced pupils were set to copy from solid models.

76. In February, the number of pupils increased to sixty-eight, and no further admissions were granted, though upwards of forty applications had been received. Want of space, and short time for working in, were the cause of the refusal to entertain new students. The highest attendance was 53, the lowest 44.

77. In April, a class for Wood-cutting was opened, to which twelve students were admitted at a fee of one Rupee per month. Here again the applications for admission were far above the number ultimately received into the class.

78. In the same month a class for Shading from the flat was opened.

79. The progress made in the various branches during the session, was marked and steady. The students advanced rapidly in design from the simple flat figures on the blackboard to the complicated and beautiful flat ornaments of Mr. Dyce and Mr. Herman. The study of the perspective was eagerly pursued, and was turned to the best account by the pupils in the class of design from solid models.

80. School of Industry, Sewree, since styled the David Sassoon Industrial and Reformatory Institution.—The offer of Messrs. Sassoon to pay Rupees 30,000 into the Government Treasury, on condition of a Government grant of the services of an Engineer as Superintendent, and of an allowance equal to the interest at 5 per cent. on Rupees 30,000, has been accepted by Government. The Messrs. Sassoon also give a site and building. The School is being entirely re-organized by a Committee, so constituted, as to represent 1. Government; 2. the Messrs. Sassoon; 3. the former Committee of the School of Industry.

81. The Maistree Class and Mechanical School at Poona forms the lower department of the Civil Engineering School previously reported on. A class of 20 students was formed in December for the training of "Maramut Maistrees" for the Public Works Department. They are to be examined shortly by a Committee.

82. The Mechanical School for the education of Artificers is also under Mr. Coke, but the actual management is in the hands of Mr. Cassidy. The following figures show the progress of the workshop :

|---|---|---|---|
| Value of work executed in the first half year, viz. up to 30th April 1856 | 704 | 4 | 0 |
| For year ending 30th April 1857... ... ... ... ... ... | 2,994 | 7 | 5 |
| Ditto ditto 1858 ... ... ... ... ... ... | 3,853 | 2 | 2 |

83. The workshop is not yet quite self-supporting, but I expect that it will be so shortly. The results of the mechanical teaching are highly satisfactory.

84. Government Central Museum.—Owing to the want of accommodation for European soldiers, this Institution has been ejected from the Town Barracks, and the articles lodged in a room of the Town Hall. It is now being properly arranged for inspection in the great chamber of the Town Hall.

85. Mechanics' Institution, Bombay.—This Society has instituted a course of lectures open to the public on matters of interest to its members. Government have consented to pay half the fee of Rupees 100 paid to each Lecturer. Many natives attend the lectures, and take much interest in them. The President of the Society, Mr. J. J. Berkley, Engineer of the Great Indian Peninsula Railway Company, opened the season with an elaborate account of the Bhore Ghauts incline, illustrated with maps and plans on a large scale. Dr. Buist lectured on the Geology of the Ghauts; Dr. Bhawoo Dajee on Science and Art; Mr. Fraser on the modern order of Mechanics; Professor Sinclair on the Laws of Motion; and Dr. Wilson on Indian Antiquities.

Appendix F.

It is necessary to alter the arrangement followed by Colonel Turner to agree with the new nomenclature ordered by the Honorable the Court.

1. FORTIFICATION.

It was considered necessary to place the Forts at Hydrabad and Bukkur in a more satisfactory state; the improvements however were confined to what appeared strictly necessary, and the cost of both was only 3,646 Rupees.

ACCOMMODATION FOR TROOPS.

Barracks for a Company of Foot Artillery were sanctioned for Kurrachee; the work has been suspended by order of the Major General Commanding. Barracks for another Company of Artillery are ordered for Shikarpoor, and the materials are being prepared.

Lines are being erected at Jacobabad for the 3rd Regiment of Sind Horse; the construction of the roof of Horse lines is somewhat peculiar, being of very slight arches of burnt brick and mud, covered with Kureel, (wild caper) rafters, mats, and mud plaster; the method is recommended by General Jacob after trial, and he has had so much experience in building, and of the climate, that I considered myself obliged to adopt his views.

A. The Luckie Pass may be considered as a metalled Road; it was resumed this season under Mr. Sub-Engineer McNally, and has been cut down to one regular incline; the lower part of the Road, which crosses the first hill near the Guard Room, has also been improved, but I am not at present able to say whether the Road is passable for carts, as Mr. McNally is bringing down his sections with him, and has been detained by the high winds I suppose. The vertical Sections which he sent are very satisfactory.

There is a great deal of trouble about this work; the heat on the limestone rocks is so intense, that the Lieutenant of Police tells me that scarcely a season passes in which passengers are not struck down by the sun, and in October and November people suffer from fever; we are therefore much limited for time, and as the work is mostly blasting rock, we cannot employ many workmen at once. I intended to try some experiments on the French system by enlarging the bottom of the bore by acid, so as to use very considerable charges of powder, but the acid has not as yet arrived from Bombay.

A. 4. Ordnance.—Considerable progress has been made in the construction of an arsenal in the Fort Hydrabad, and also with a Powder Magazine. The arsenal is at present suspended by order of the Commissioner, but might be completed in about three months.

Large additions have been asked for the arsenal at Kurrachee, and it is probable that a new one will be required, as Kurrachee seems likely to become the depôt for all Stores, both for Sind, the Punjab, and the North-West Provinces.

1. B. Naval. Ship Building.—In consequence of an excess on the Dock at Ghizree, the work was suspended; difficulties are now pointed out as to the design, which, for the present, delay the prosecution of the work. Several sheds have been erected to cover Steamers and Flats during their construction; although these appear to cost a considerable sum, the actual expense will be moderate, as the timber of which they are made will be again useful.

2. STORE HOUSES.—In this I include Officer's Quarters. New quarters are certainly required at Manora for the Port Officer, the expense is, however, very considerable, and it is considered advisable to delay the work at least for the present.

C. Judicial. 1. POLICE.—The Police Lines at Hydrabad have not been commenced, the site not being decided upon. The Police Lines at Kurrachee have been postponed, as the Captain of Police thought it better to wait until more permanent lines could be erected.

3. JAILS.—Estimate for considerable alterations to the Jail at Hydrabad was sent to the Acting Commissioner in December 1856, but no reply has been received.

WORKSHOPS TO THE JAIL, KURRACHEE, are suspended during the present restriction on expenditure.

I. Marine. 1. HARBOUR AND NAVIGATION.—The Hon'ble the Court sent Mr. Parkes (a Civil Engineer accustomed to Harbour works) to examine the Harbour. He has made, I understand, a very complete Survey, on which Mr. Walker may probably be able to determine what should be done. I introduce the subject here, as the services of Lieutenants Pym and Finch were placed at Mr. Parkes' disposal.

3. JETTIES AND CRANES.—Widening the mole connecting Kurrachee with Keamare was commenced in the year 1856-57, and given in contract; owing, however, to differences of opinion between the Contractor and Executive Engineer the contract was broken off. The work has been in progress for several months, and will be shortly completed up to the point where the former contractor left off, but there it must stop, unless the arbitrators to whom the case was referred come to some decision.

K. The river rose late last year and fell early, and the greatest rise was much under that of 1856. I did not notice that Colonel Turner had reported on the effect of the rise of the river on the crops, and I did not obtain information on the subject; as I had not an opportunity of seeing the Canals before the inundation, I cannot speak to that.

The clearance for this season appears to be satisfactory, with the exception of the Shah Bunder Districts, the large canals of which require re-formation, and not mere clearance.

A method of testing the effects of the clearance has been circulated, and copy is appended. At present I do not see any data in which to found any positive opinion; that founded on the crops is clearly fallacious.

The Narra Supply Channel has suffered under the orders limiting the expenditure, and the progress has been slow. Mr. Price, C. E., the very efficient officer in charge, suffered severely from fever, and was obliged to proceed to Kurrachee, that also affected the progress of the work; the Bunds in the lower Narra, alluded to in Lieut. Colonel Turner's 23rd para., were completed in time, and appear to have been successful.

The Hajipoor Channel to supply the Gaja was completed sufficiently to admit the water last rains; the regulating Bridge was partially erected, and will shortly be completed.

The Hydrabad cutting intended to supply the Foolaili, was commenced about December, and has been carried through with a degree of vigour and of economy, which are most highly creditable to Mr. Jones, C. E. It will, I think, admit the water this year, and is a proof, were one wanting, of the true economy of employing superior European superintendence.

None of the projects mentioned by Colonel Turner in his 24th and following paras. have yet been sanctioned, nor have any new ones been sent in by the Public Works Department; it is indeed almost useless to obtain sanction to Canal expenditure when it is impossible to foresee when it can be undertaken. On one point, however, I consider our prospects good, the Railway Contractor will necessarily collect a very large body of workmen, and if our works can be put in hand on the completion of his, we shall have great facilities in doing the work, but at the same time we must expect to pay something like Railway prices, and the estimates sent in will probably be too low.

K. 2. TANKS.—There are no tanks of any importance in Sind.

3. DYKES OR BUNDS.—The overflow of the river has impressed on the minds of the inhabitants of Sind the importance of this subject; some districts are indeed protected solely by these artificial mounds, from time to time accidents happen not usually from any failure of the dam itself, but from the ground on which it rests being cut away by the river. I had an experiment tried on a plan which has been found to answer on the Ganges, viz. to attach boughs of trees to a grass rope and to sink them in the river, but the rope was badly made, and the wind had increased too much to allow a fair experiment, the rope broke in every trial. I think, however, that the idea should not be lost sight of, and were I to remain, I would make arrangements to have it carried out next cold weather; it must be done however under an intelligent Officer, who can alter his plans according to circumstances, the means seem so inadequate to the enormous effect required, that many people will doubt the propriety of trying the experiment, but in the first place the expense is nominal, and in the second we know that the mere accidental grounding of a single tree turns the current occasionally.

K. DRAINAGE.—In consequence of the erection of Dykes which exclude the overflow, at least partly on this account, there are some rather extensive districts, as for instance, between Chuch and Moograbhim, when the overflow of Canals form jheels or swamps. Wherever it is possible I would drain these hollows; they must affect the climate very injuriously.

I am not here speaking of the curious Dunds or Dakes on the border of the Thur; these probably are rather useful than otherwise.

L. 1. METALLED ROADS.—There are a few metalled Roads in Kurrachee, and one at Hydrabad, but the stone is soft, and they require constant watering; sanction has not yet been received for metalling the Road to Tatta; but that seems to me to be superseded by the Railway, and as there is a Survey sanctioned (I understand) for a Railway from Sukkur towards Jacobabad, I think that even if we had the sanction it would be desirable to postpone.

A. METALLING THE ROAD TO SHIKARPOOR.

L. 2. UNMETALLED ROADS.—Within the last few years an immense alteration has taken place. When I left in 1851, I do not remember any wheel carriage being used except a Gun carriage, out of the stations, which of course can go anywhere; this year, however, I took six carts from Kurrachee to Jacobabad up the right bank, and came down the left bank, via Moograbhim, without the slightest accident; the only difficulty was at Luckie, when I was, of course, obliged to put them in boats to round the promontory.

The projects noted by Colonel Turner remain as he left them; if those already before Government are sanctioned, there will be ample time to make new Surveys before the works are completed, and considering the uncertainty in which we now are, as respects prices, I do not think it would be safe to frame any estimates now.

L. 3. THE HAJIPOOR BRIDGE is the only brick Bridge which has been under execution this year by the Public Works Department.

In consequence of a very sudden change in the site of the river, the pier erected at Giddoo, near Hydrabad, was undermined and the piles and wood-work were saved with the greatest difficulty.

After consulting Captain Daniell, I came to the conclusion that there was no part of the bank where a similar accident might not occur at any moment.

The erection of a Bridge across the Arul River, at Sehwan, was considered an object of very great importance, so much so, that I proposed to use a Boat Bridge; on inspecting the remains of the Giddoo Pier, it seemed to me to be admirably adapted to the Arul, and it has now been erected by Sergeant Overseer Knight.

This work is supplied with a Drawbridge on what is, I believe, rather a new design, but as completed it is not quite so perfect as I could desire, that is, it takes more men to work it than it will when proper counterpoises are put on the cost of erection, and conveyance of material from Hydrabad has been under two thousand Rupees.

L. 4. LANDING STAGES are much wanted to all the Ferries.

L. 5. NAVIGABLE CANALS.—All the Canals of the slightest importance in Sind, are navigable in one sense, that is, they can all be used during the inundation. This point has been generally attended to on the right bank of the river; the bridges having sufficient headway for boats in so flat a country as Sind, however, this makes the bridge unsightly, and perhaps more expensive than they would be if provided with some kind of moveable bridge in the centre. This is a matter requiring careful consideration. I thought at first that light iron bridges would be best, but my rough calculations showed that they would be very costly.

THE ROAD FROM ROREE TO KOTREE, (H. H. Ali Moorad's Boundary) is bridged, with the exception of one canal, but provision has not been made for boats in the inundation.

There still remains a vast deal to do in bridging Canals; there is now an annual charge of 7,200 Rupees for bridging the Canals in the Hydrabad Collectorate alone, and certainly large as the charge is, it is of the most emergent necessity, and I would not grudge it if the bridges were efficient, but they are not so, nor could they be made efficient for even a very much larger sum; the above charge represents at 5 per cent., a capital of 1,44,000 Rupees.

The reason that my carts met with no accident was, that in the dry weather the banks of Canals are sloped down, and the bottoms filled in, and the Bridges are not used.

RIVER IMPROVEMENTS.—My attention was particularly called to the Hujamry, which was shoal in parts, and the streams were obliged to take the more easterly channel: from the Map it appeared that it would be easy to deepen the channel by scratching it, (which is the only expression I can use for the very simple method used in parts of the Ganges,) but the Sergeant employed followed his instructions to the letter, and at first made the harrow so heavy that it acted as an anchor, and then so light that it did not sink at all, and then he became so ill that he was recalled.

I have this year visited the mouth or trifurcation of the River, and it is so extraordinary that I may mention it here; the River comes down in one steady stream, and tolerably straight for some four miles; it then at once trifurcates in the shape of letter "T," Hajamry. It is clear, therefore, that this state of things cannot continue, and that unless some change takes place to cut away the point where the Hujamry takes off, that stream, which is very much less than the other, will silt up; it is apparently improving a little now, but it must, in the nature of things, eventually silt up. It appears to be better now because we cleared away some trees and wrecks which had lodged. Plans and Sections have been taken by Lieutenants Pym and Baker, with a view to a complete project.

I had intended to delay this report until I had received the reports from the gentlemen in charge of the works, but I am obliged to leave with only two days' notice, and there are some facts and opinions which may be of use.
